Your health is our top priority as we prepare to return to our classrooms and workplaces. The Occupational Health and Safety Administration (OSHA) recommends workplaces take precautions to reduce health and safety risks in the following order of most effective to least effective. WISD has followed OSHA’s recommendations, along with public health recommendations, by putting the following processes and procedures in place to prioritize health and safety.

OSHA RECOMMENDS:

ENGINEERING CONTROLS
Isolate people from the hazard

- Barriers or partitions to separate employees from public/building occupants (i.e. plexiglass, hazard warning tape).
- Hands-free trash receptacles and other similar equipment such as paper towel dispensers.
- Sanitation, including disinfection procedures and frequency, use of EPA-registered disinfectants, and protocols for restrictions using shared machinery such as the copy machines and fingerprinting machine.

ADMINISTRATIVE CONTROLS
Change the way people work

- Risk assessment by position (Limited in-person work).
- Staggering arrivals at the office and classrooms.
- Physical distancing procedures and guidance.
- Employees’ Daily Health Screener using Script.
- Train employees on safety protocols.
- Employee health monitoring.
- Intake procedure for visitors.
- Guidelines for deliveries.
- Restrictions on business travel, in-person meetings, and non-essential close contact.
- Signage to communicate and promote physical distancing, good hygiene, and other critical procedures.
- Contact tracing of employees at work.
- HR Fingerprinting Office by appointment only.

PERSONAL PROTECTIVE EQUIPMENT (PPE)
Protect the worker with PPE

- Require masks or face shields in shared spaces and when 6 feet of separation cannot be maintained. Cloth or non-medical grade face coverings will be provided if needed.
